'TIS NIPPED IN THE BUD.

Eminent Physicians in New York City Say That Danger From Cholera is now Over.

The Wyoming's Passengers to be Allowed to go Ashore, Their Time Having Expired.

Encouraging Reports From Camp Low, Sandy Hook and Fire Island Quarantine.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The official bulletin of the Health Board reports this morning: "No cases of cholera discovered in this city since last report.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—No new or suspicious cases of cholera have been reported to the Board of Health this morning, and President Wilson seems to be of the opinion that the dreaded disease has been nipped in the bud. Seven houses in the city are under quarantine, and that, as Dr. Wilson says, is merely as a precaution.

CAMP LOW, Sandy Hook, N.J., Sept. 22.—Following is the official bulletin issued by Commandant Sawtelle:—"Pavilion A, ten cases of ordinary acute and chronic disease. Nothing special at pavilion B, only three cases of diarrhœa, not suspicious; four cases of headache with fever, one child sick with cough. Pavilion C, five cases of sickness, nothing special. In the hospital all cases are convalescent, save the unknown infant, which is slightly improved. Mrs. Guoll Daniz, the cholera patient, is sitting up, convalescent.

Quarantine—The steerage passengers of the Hamburg steamer Moravia were transferred to Ellis Island this morning. The Moravia was the first cholera bearing ship. She came from Hamburg and anchored off the upper quarantine on the evening of Aug. 30. On the following morning she was ordered to Lower Bay, where she remained till yesterday afternoon when she was allowed to go to the upper station.

FIRE ISLAND, L.I., Sept. 22.—Arrangements were completed by Dr. Voight to-day for the transfer of the Wyoming's passengers to the Cepheus. The passengers will be taken from the island to the mainland to-morrow morning. The sheriff has not as yet served formal notice upon Dr. Voight to vacate the island.

ROOME AGAIN REMANDED.

The Bank Clerk Finding Out What Low Really Means.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23.—Bank clerk Roome's case was remanded again until Saturday. To-day was a holiday, and the court did no business. It is reported here that Bonner has been captured near Nanaimo, where he was hiding in the woods.

A public meeting is called for Friday night on the subject of the railway bonus. The sentiment against the bonus is increasing.

To-day has been declared a public holiday, and crowds went to the New Westminster fair.

The new waterworks main was inspected by a diver yesterday, and was found to have been hauled across the Narrows without damage.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE

Matters of Interest Going Forward in the Sporting World, Here and Elsewhere.

THE RING.

EAGER TO MEET MITCHELL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—If Charley Mitchell, the "sprinter pugilist" of England, is really desirous of fighting "Jim" Corbett, he will be accommodated. Corbett cherishes no love for Mitchell, and he has said nothing will afford him more pleasure than to punish the bragging Britisher. The champion yesterday was hard at work rehearsing the part assigned him in his play, but he stopped long enough to tell what he thought of Mitchell's challenge and his forfeit of $2500. "To begin with," said Corbett, "Mitchell is a bluffer and a bully who is not on the level at any stage of the game. Therefore I fear this challenge is like others which have emanated from him, full of wind and bluff, and only an advertising scheme. I sincerely hope, however, that the wily faker is in earnest this time, that I can get a chance to show him up and give him what he deserves—a mighty good licking. Of all the boxers in the world to-day Mitchell is the most contemptible. He is a common barroom thug, who fights through the papers and not in the ring, but if he sets his feet on American soil he will have to make a match with me or return to England in a hurry, branded as a coward. I will make him post a forfeit of $5000 with any responsible newspaper in New York; and force him to sign articles to fight me as soon as my arrangements terminate. My reason for asking him to post a forfeit is to make sure of getting a fight with him."

FOOTBALL.

JUNIOR TEAMS.

There will be several junior football teams this season.

The Sunflower Rugby club have reorganized and elected the following officers: W. Englehardt, captain; H. Jorand, sub-captain and treasurer, and L. B. Trimen, secretary. On Monday evening the James Bay juniors will meet to organize.

LACROSSE.

OFF FOR WESTMINSTER.

The Victoria lacrosse team left for New Westminster to-day to play the Royal City team. They go to Vancouver on Saturday to play there.

YACHTING.

SATURDAY'S RACE.

Arrangements have been completed for Saturday's yacht race. The entries are: The Ada, Scud, Wasp, Viking and Scout. The preparatory gun to make ready will be fired at 1:30 and the starting gun five minutes later. The course is from an imaginary line between the outer wharf and the lighthouse opposite, thence to the San Pedro at Brotchie Ledge leaving the San Pedro to starboard, thence to a stakeboat anchored off the end of the spit at the lagoon leaving the stakeboat to port, (stakeboat to display a white flag upon a mast not less than ten feet high,) thence to the San Pedro leaving her to port, and thence to the starting point.

BONNER CAPTURED.

The Misguided Bank Teller Run to Earth in a Cabin in the Woods of Cedar District.

Found Pitifully Crouching Under a Blanket in a Corner Half-Starved and Gaunt.

NANAIMO, Sept. 22.—C. H. Bonner, the missing bank teller, for whose capture a reward of $250 was offered by the Bank of B.C., was apprehended at an early hour this morning by Chief O'Connell in Cedar district. Mr. Cains of Cedar district happened to be in town on Tuesday, and seeing the published notice of reward for Bonner, and the description given, informed Government agent Bray that a man answering that description had been seen at his (Cains') place. Mr. Bray informed Chief O'Connell and the latter left the city about two o'clock this morning in a buggy. After making enquiries he proceeded to a small cabin in the woods, which he entered, and observing a figure crouched in a sitting position in a corner of the cabin, he stepped up and pulled the blanket off and discovered the man for whom he was in search. Bonner could not move, he appeared to be paralyzed with fear, and had to be lifted into the buggy. He has been wandering around the woods during the day and at night returning to the cabin. He has been almost starved, although $23 90 and a gold watch were taken from him at the gaol.

The man looks a sorry sight and great sympathy is expressed here for him. He will probably be sent to Vancouver in the morning where he will be tried. The revolver which he took with him was not found, and he said he lost it. The probability is that he threw it away for reasons of his own.

The steamer Constance arrived here this evening with Mr. F. P. Blackman of the Canada Western and party, including Harry V. Burner, on board. She is coaling and will leave early in the morning for Comox. The party intend visiting Campbell river, Duncan's Bay, Bute Inlet, Knight Inlet, Frederick Arm and Seymour Narrows. It is the intention to view these different points with the view of the future of the road in that section of the province. One of the survey parties of the company will be met at Campbell River and some reports of work received.

When the baggage of the party is examined one would be inclined to call the Constance a gunboat. It is the intention to rid the northern country of all its game. The party did some shooting to-day, and probably on the principle that no gentlemanly sportsmen would kill anything the first day, a very sorry looking sea gull was all that was slaughtered. To the skill of Mr. Blackman the party are thankful for the destruction of the ferocious bird.

The greatest curiosity in Nanaimo, so visitors say, is the Salvation Army. It is just four strong. The most active member is the female captain. She leads the march, plays the tambourine and does all the singing in a very bad voice, made worse by being out of repair from constant use. The corps makes few recruits but still perseveres in the work in the vineyard.

Rattled Through Business.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The National encampment got to work early this morning and succeeded in disposing of business with unexpected rapidity. The resolution which the Ohio delegation were instructed by their department to present, to urge the abolition of the practice of making commander-in-chief, junior and junior commanders of the National encampment and ex-department commanders, life members of the National encampment, was offered. The Washington National encampment G.A.R. elected the following additional officers. R. H. Warfield of San Francisco, senior vice, Commander Ayres of Deleware, junior vice commander.

REV. FATHER McGLYNN.

The Noted Independent Priest of New York to Have a Hearing by Papal Authority.

Mrs. Harrison's Longing to Reach the White House Sustained Her on Her Journey.

Munitions of War for Venezuela—Lottery Wire Pullers in Dakota—A Priest's Ruin.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The coming meeting in their annual conference of thirteen Catholic archbishops of the United States, which will begin November 6th, has already been announced. New interest has been given to it by the cable message that the Pope will have a representative present, in the person of Archbishop Sotolli, who, as papal legate, will be introduced with plenary powers. The St. Louis, Mo., Western Watchman, which is one of Archbishop Ireland's organs, and of which the Rev. S. Phelan is editor, says in its issue of Sunday: "There are many disputes between bishops and their clergy that have long awaited a settlement. Chief among which is the case of Dr. McGlynn. It is safe to say that famous case will now come up for trial. Our information from Rome is to the effect that the Propaganda has received satisfactory assurance from Dr. McGlynn, and that his side of the question will at least be heard." This McGlynn announcement will occasion surprise. Rev. Dr. McGlynn refuses to be interviewed.

Somebody's Carlessness.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., Sept. 22.—Edward Hayes, a prominent citizen of this city accompanied by his four-year-old son had a narrow escape from instant death yesterday morning, while attempting to cross the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railway at the Patterson street crossing. The gates were raised at the time and Mr. Hayes, unaware of any danger, started to cross the tracks, and was horrified to find the westbound express, the fastest train on the road, within 30 yards of him. With great presence of mind he threw his child out of one side of the wagon and leaped out on the other side himself, just as the engine struck the horse and wagon. The animal was instantly killed and its body thrown at least 30 feet into the air. Mr. Hayes and child escaped without injury. How the gates came to be open is a mystery.

An Italian Fair.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The Columbian Fair, which has been arranged by prominent Italian citizens, for the purpose of raising funds to complete the amount necessary to construct the Columbus monument, will open at the Lennox Lyceum to-night, and will continue through the week. The fund still lacks several thousand dollars, but the receipts of the fair will undoubtedly make up the necessary amount. Italian manufacturers have contributed all sorts of curios, and the Italian ladies of the city have contributed a large amount of fancy work. The music will be rendered by Italian artists in native costume, and the wives and daughters of prominent Italians will preside at the booths.

No Lotteries Wanted.

FARGO, N.D., Sept. 22.—The statement is made here that the lottery has not yet given up hope of gaining a foothold in North Dakota, and that the wires are already being pulled in certain legislative districts to defeat the amendment to the constitution which comes up, forever prohibiting the granting of a charter to any lottery. An amendment must pass two consecutive sessions of the legislature, and then be submitted to a vote of the people before becoming a part of the organic law.

A Study in Black.

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 22.—News has reached here of an attempt of a gang of negro tramps to loot and burn the village of Spencer in the northwestern part of the state. A pitched battle was fought between the negroes and the citizens and revolvers were used recklessly. Five negroes are in jail, and the people of the town are intensely excited. It is reported that a number were seriously injured in the melee.

Accidentally Electrocuted

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 22.—A broken telegraph wire strongly charged by contact with the trolly wire of the Dunkirk and Fredonia electric railway, fell across a horse's neck at Fredonia yesterday morning. There was a sizzling blue flame and the neck was burned nearly half through before the shrieking horse was extricated. The animal was shot. Another horse was badly shocked.

The President's Wife.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Harrison passed the night fairly well, sleeping by snatches and this morning was reported feeling somewhat refreshed. She did not show any ill effects from her long, fatiguing journey from Loon lake. Her sole desire to be again in the White House sustained her in her removal this morning. She took some slight nourishment without discomfort. She even seemed to relish it.

Another Railway Massacre.

SIBLEY, Sept. 22.—A disastrous wreck occurred on the Burlington road, between that place and Ocheydan, at 11 last night. Freight No. 5, eastbound, was going at a high rate of speed, when the track slipped from under it and precipitated the engine and sixteen cars down a fifteen foot embankment. Three immigrants were killed, being mangled beyond recognition.

A Gamester's Fate.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 22.—Harry Elliott, a young soldier at the United States barracks here, who recently married, lacked a few dollars of enough to buy a housekeeping outfit. He started out last night to win at the gambling table the balance he needed, but luck was not with him. He lost every cent he had, and later his bride found him a corpse. He had taken a fatal dose of morphine.

A PRIEST'S INFATUATION.

A Pretty Face and Figure Work the Ruin of Father Hennessy.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 23.—Miss Lizzie O'Neill, of 5206 State street, has a pretty face and a charming figure. Her family came to Chicago from Cleveland in February last. Lizzie has had a most peculiar experience. According to one story she was sought in marriage by the Rev. E. M. Hennessy, a Catholic priest; the other has it that the priest sought to bring about her marriage with a wealthy parishioner. It is said that Father Hennessy prepared Miss O'Neill for her first communion in Cleveland and fell in love with her. He was a frequent caller at the house; then the family removed to Chicago and Father Hennessy was transferred to Dungannon, Ohio, and later on was placed in a church at Dubuque, Iowa. One day last week the priest unexpectedly called upon the O'Neills. Last Sunday he called again, and waited until the girl returned from church with her affianced, Cyril Bravo. This enraged the priest, and he attacked Bravo and drove him from the house. On Monday Hennessy boarded a State street car upon which Miss O'Neill and Bravo were riding. Again the priest assaulted Bravo, and the woman, becoming frightened, jumped from the car and was badly shaken. Then the girl's brother called upon Archbishop Feban. A guard is now on duty at the O'Neill's homestead. Edward O'Neill, a brother, has sworn out a warrant, charging the ex-priest with assaulting his sister.

Jealous Affection.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—Amanda Cain, aged 15, daughter of a farmer at Independence, was stabbed to death last night by Arthur Watson, a young farmer. Watson wanted to marry her, but the parents objected. Watson found Miss Cain working in the garden and spoke to her, but she would not answer him. He then drew a knife and stabbed her. The girl's mother ran out to save her, but was too late. Watson then turned on the mother and cut her so severely that her life is despaired of. The murderer escaped, but is pursued by a posse.

Sudbury Gold Mine.

OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—A company has been formed here with a capital of $2,000,000 for working the new gold mine within five miles of Sudbury. Over $600,000 of stock has been already subscribed, and letters of incorporation have been asked for.

Crowds to the Exhibition.

MONTREAL, Sept. 22.—The seventh day of the exhibition continues to draw great crowds. The weather is fine.

The Extreme Penalty.

HALIFAX, Sept. 22.—Buck, the Moncton murderer, was to-day sentenced to be hanged on Dec. 1st.

Where the Stones Are Wood.

The Falkland's produce no trees, but they do produce wood in a very remarkable shape. You will see, scattered here and there, singular blocks of what look like weather beaten, mossy gray stones of various sizes.

But if you attempt to roll over one of these rounded boulders you will find yourself unable to accomplish it. In fact the stone is tied down to the ground, by the roots, or in other words it is not a stone, but a block of living wood.

If you examine it at the right time you may be able to find upon it, half hidden among the lichen and the mosses, a few of its obscure leaves and flowers. If you try to cut it with an axe you will find it extremely hard to do so. It is entirely unwedgeable, being made up of countless branches, which grow so closely together that they become consolidated into one mass.

On a sunny day—if you are lucky enough to see a sunny day in Falkland—you may perhaps find on the warm side of the "balsam log," as the living stone is called, a few drops of fragrant gum, highly prized by the shepherds for its supposed medicinal qualities.

This wonderful plant is the Bolax gebaria of botanists, and belongs to the same family as do the parsnip and carrot.—Boston Globe.

A big society event in Montreal was the marriage of Miss Edith Allan, youngest daughter of the late Sir Hugh Allan, to K. T. Routledge, a wealthy rancher of Pincher Creek, Alberta. The marriage was solemnized in St. Andrew's church, a large number of guests being present.

Smallpox has broken out in Port Arthur. There was one death on Tuesday and two fresh cases are reported. The board of health at Fort William met and adopted strong measures to prevent carrying the disease around town. The stage will be stopped running in connection with the electric railway.

Jas. Mitchell, publisher and proprietor of the Goderich Star, was found guilty at the assizes of having criminally libelled M. C. Cameron, ex-M.P., in having stated that he had seduced a girl. Mitchell agreed to publish an apology and was, with the consent of Mr. Cameron, let off with a fine of $5, he to pay all costs of the case.

On Wednesday the general passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway was asked by cable if his company could transport 1900 men from ocean to ocean, and as his immediate reply was in the affirmative, it is quite possible that another evidence of the great Canadian transcontinental railway's utility to the empire in times of peace, as well as in times of war, will be immediately forthcoming. It is not yet known here whether the men to be sent across are soldiers or sailors.

Sir John Thompson says that the statement recently sent from England by Dalziel's agent that the Imperial Government had insisted that Canada must grant to United States authors copyright in the Dominion when demanded by them is entirely without foundation. Contrary to the last despatch, the Imperial authorities sustain the Canadian contention that as the States have no copyright treaty with Great Britain, our government cannot be compelled to grant registration to American authors.

As a counter demonstration and offset to the welcome to Hon. Edward Blake by the supporters of Irish Home Rule, opponents of the cause in Toronto organized a meeting and passed several strongly worded resolutions approving of the present position of Ireland in the British Empire. The meeting was large and enthusiastic, and among the speakers were several delegates from Ireland to the Pan-Presbyterian Council. Men from Cork were enthusiastic in their praise of the administration of Irish affairs by Balfour, and declared that his rule had brought a security for person and property that no local parliament could enforce. They saw the working of the clergy of the Church of Rome in all the agitation for local government that had disturbed Ireland in past years. The chief local speakers were E. Douglas Armour and N. Clarke Wallace, M.P. Both declared that the votes in the Canadian Parliament were not fair indications of the sentiment of the Canadian people, but were rather due to the Roman Catholic vote, which was as a unit for Irish HomeRule.

The Presbyterian Conference.

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—The Pan-Presbyterian conference convened in this city to-day, with a large attendance. Many questions of importance to the church, both in America and Europe, will be discussed. Wylie, L.D., of Coleraine, Ireland.

The Canadian Pacific railway paint shop at Toronto Junction was burned last night. Three cars in the building were destroyed. Loss, $10,000.

No reasons were given. It is reported that the company will make a clean sweep among the passenger conductors between Ottawa and Vancouver. Most of the dismissed employes have been in the service of the company for over ten years.

TEXADA'S FAVORED ISLE.

Destined to Become a Great Mineral Centre—Its Fine Climate.

NANAIMO, Sept. 22.—Mr. J. W. Stirton, J.P., who, along with R. Evans of the Nanaimo Hotel, have been spending a few days at Texada Island, report the outlook of the island more lively than ever before. Only a few of the locators of 1889 have retained their claims. They report the prospecting work done of late as showing up grandly; the veins look healthy and some of them have been traced and proved for several thousands of feet in several places they visited. Pans of dirt from the drifts were washed and streaks of the yellow metal could be seen in the pans. They brought down some fine specimens of rock containing a large percentage of free gold and report that there is evidently lots of the "stuff." Some Montana men employed there declare they never saw the equal of the island in any part of the American continent. Yankee miners would go enthusiastic over it. They say veins are to be seen there from 6 inches to 60 feet thick, and there is little doubt that the influx of practical miners would develop some of the richest mines on the Pacific coast.

The government should at once spend a few hundred dollars to open up a good trail in the mineral belt of the island. Not a cent has been spent in roads there, although an immense amount of cash has fallen into the exchequer from that "Gem of the Gulf." Texada contains a choice selection of the finest marble, six or seven varieties, so far as known, and in quarries—not mere veins. Iron, copper, tin, gold and silver can be found in numerous places within an area of say four square miles; and the limestone produces the finest lime on the coast. It is expected that the coming summer will see an impetus to the mining industries of the island such as has not been dreamt of in the past, and Texada will assume her just position as a mining centre. The deep water surrounding the island will give it the best facilities for cheap shipment (should nothing local be erected) as but few places can boast.

The new mail service to be shortly inaugurated will open up for settlement as fine homes as can be got anywhere in the province. All kinds of fruit will grow luxuriantly on the slopes of the island, and it is thought by those who know the island climate well that grape culture can be successfully carried on there. KUMTUX.

The Tories' Scourge.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—In to-day's Truth, Mr. Labouchere says that Lord Rosebery requires watching, particularly in his course towards the East African Company, and he adds, "If Mr. Gladstone is too closely occupied with the Home Rule scheme to look after Lord Rosebery, I think that Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, will watch him. Mr. Labouchier is believed to have a very sore feeling toward the Chancellor about the latter's prompt denial of the interference of the Queen in his (Labouchere's) appointment.

Misery in Argentina.

BUENOS AYRES, Sept. 21.—There are well-developed manifestations indicating the early outbreak of another revolution. The troops in the camp at Catalina have revolted. President Pena announced that he intends to pursue a peaceful course against his opponents; he insists that Senor Zeballo shall take the foreign portfolio. Senor Rieja stated in congress yesterday that the lower orders in the province of Buenos Ayres are in extreme misery, owing to the existing state of the finances. They are unable to obtain the necessities of life and their condition he says calls for immediate action.

Boorish Tourists.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The Queen has entirely given up attending public worship on Sunday in the parish kirk at Crathie, where she went regularly for 35 years. The rush of tourists from Braemar and Ballater became latterly an intolerable nuisance and they often behaved badly. She now goes to Crathie only on the autumn sacrament Sabbath.

Fire on the Prairie.

FARGO, N.D., Sept. 21.—A prairie fire is raging north of this city. Many farmers have been too busy to prepare fire breaks, and it is feared that much damage will be done. The fire began three miles north of Fargo and is fanned by a strong south wind.

Mrs Annie W. Jordan

Of 165 Tremont St., Boston, was in very poor health, from bad circulation of the blood, having rush of blood to the head, numb spells, and chills, and the physician said the veins were almost bursting all over her body. and soon fully recovered, and now enjoys perfect health. She says she could praise Hood's Sarsaparilla all day and then not say enough.

HOOD'S PILLS are hand made, and are perfect in composition, proportion and appearance.

Reward of Leniency.

VALPARAISO, Sept. 21.—The review of the troops here yesterday was witnessed by a large number of people, and the festivities were general all over the republic. At Santiago, during the review yesterday, stones were thrown at the President's carriage, some of them striking the coachman. Some of the men who threw the stones were arrested. The people are intensely excited at the outrage. Some of the military officers regard this action as the outcome of the President Montt's lenient conduct towards the enemies of the present regime.

REMEMBERING THEIR VICTORIES

Veterans of the Republican Armies Revisit the Scenes of Their Triumph.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—To-morrow will be the last day of the G.A.R. encampment, and the veterans are making the most of the few hours that remain before they part for another year. Thousands of the old soldiers, and especially the survivors of the Army of the Potomac, have taken advantage of the battlefield excursions, and all the historic spots within a hundred miles of Washington are to-day thronged with veterans, pointing out the positions of their regiments, and the places where the battle raged most fiercely. They are living the old days over again, and the joy and exultation they feel as they look upon the scenes of their victories is the reward of their heroic service. It is not a personal or a sectional feeling, but merely the consciousness of a good deed well done. Hundreds of veterans who wore the butternut and marched under the stars and bars may be seen among the "boys in blue," and on the historic ground where a few years ago they were ranged against each other in deadly strife they are now exchanging stories of the brave deeds of their comrades with as much gusto as if they had fought shoulder to shoulder instead of face to face. After a day of reminiscences spent among the scenes of the war the veterans will flock back to Washington to-night to attend the reception which takes place in the pension office building. Special pains have been taken to make this reception one of the most brilliant events of the reunion. The programmes and invitations are works of art, and will be prized as mementoes of the occasion. The great hall of the pension office has been sumptuously decorated, and the surroundings will in every way harmonize with the patriotic programme which has been prepared. After a brief half hour's concert by the Marine Band, President Harrison will be introduced by Commissioner Douglas, and will make the address of the evening. The President's speech will be responded to by Commander-in-Chief Palmer, who will speak in behalf of the Grand Army. These will be the only speeches, the musical part of the programme, which will be supplied by the American Choral Society, being given more than usual prominence. The last number will be the Star Spangled Banner, which will be recited by Chas. B. Hanford. At the close of the recitation the national colors will be brought into the hall by a guard of honor while the Marine Band plays "Rally Round the Flag." The whole audience will then join in singing the Star Spangled Banner and the last great gathering of the reunion will then be at an end.

Bank of England Statistics.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A report just published by the Bank of England shows that on January 2nd last the amount of dividends "due and not demanded" was over £1,700,000. The number of stockholders is now nearly 250,000, and during the discussions on Mr. Goschen's great conversion scheme it was stated that unclaimed funds were credited to some 10,000 accounts, which included more than 40 holdings of over £50,000 each. The unclaimed holding of one individual alone in consols and reduced threes amounted to no less than £950,000. The unclaimed redemption money reached the total of £39,000,000. Every 10 years non-claimed dividends are transferred to the commissioners for the reduction of the national debt until claimants appear. Unclaimed dividends are often forgotten by the people entitled to them. Some years ago a lady died at Marseilles at the age of 98, who, though entitled to over £260,000 of the funds, and to £100,000 of accumulated dividends, was constantly in the habit of borrowing money. It is not customary to pay fractions of a penny on government stocks, and in 1882 the amount of these fractions remaining in the treasury was over £750,000.

Munitions of War for Venezuela.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The steamer South Portland, loaded with Armstrong ammunition, and ostensibly bound for Port of Spain, Trinidad, was granted clearance papers yesterday. The vessel lay off Bedloe's Island for a week pending the examination of Francisco Gonzales, owner of her cargo, who was arrested at the instance of the Venezuelan consul of this port, on a charge of violating the neutrality laws between this country and Venezuela. Gonzales was discharged for lack of evidence and the Treasury Department yesterday ordered the vessel's release. Gen. Parazo, the Venezuelan Minister, was very much chagrinned when he heard of the release of the South Portland yesterday. He would not deny the rumor that a vessel was to be sent after the South Portland. The rumor is also substantiated in other quarters and indications point to the Catharine Whiting. The steamer passed Sandy Hook at 12:30 this morning. She displayed no signals and it was plain her captain was endeavoring to get clear of the coast without observation. There were no signal boats lowered here.

The First French Republic.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The entire population of Paris is on the boulevards to-day celebrating, as only Parisians can celebrate, the one hundredth anniversary of the birthday of the First Republic. The Chamber of Deputies has declared the day a national holiday, and an immense parade took place this morning under the auspices of the government, which is taking advantage of the occasion to emphasize the glories of the republic and to bring home to the minds of the peasants the folly of listening to the blandishments of the Royalists and Imperialists.

The Current Wouldn't Shut Off.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 21.—A Cedar avenue electric car collided with a Pennsylvania freight train at Cedar avenue crossing shortly before 8 o'clock this morning and a number of persons were injured, two fatally. The motorman says the accident was due to the fact that he was unable to shut off the electric current.

VOLCANO IN AFRICA.

The Discovery Made by Dr. Emin on His Last Journey in the Lake Region.

There are not many opportunities in Africa for explorers to win fresh laurels, but in the region which Emin Pasha hurriedly passed through on his recent journey to Albert Nyanza there is undoubtedly a chance to do original work of much interest. This region may be called the Sicily of Africa, and Dr. Stuhlman, Emin's comrade, has written just enough of it to show that it is worth studying in detail. Dr. Stuhlmann says he hopes some explorer will visit this mountainous country west of Victoria Nyanza and southeast of Lake Albert Edward, which Emin was compelled to pass through hurriedly and which no white man had ever seen before.

"South of the lake," writes Dr. Stuhlmann, "extend two great plains, one extending far to the east and the other to the southwest, with a big forest region in between. The eastern plain is bordered on the east by the high mountains of Butumbi and Pororo. These mountains are lofty, and there are many of them, but we saw them only at a distance. At their southern end is a range of five mountains, stretching in a southwest direction, each of them larger than any of the other summits. They are isolated cones at considerable distances from one another, very jagged, perpendicular and pointed. The cone which is furthest east was seen by the Stanley expedition on its march south, and figures on the maps as Mfumbiro, that is to say, 'The Cook.' A glance shows that these mountains are volcanoes, and, according to the natives, one of them is in frequent eruption. This is the most southern of the five brother peaks."

Dr. Stuhlmann estimates the height of this volcano at over 22,000 feet. Its eastern slope is almost perpendicular. The natives say that often at night its top is crowned with flames, and a tremendous roar is heard which they liken to the bellowing of a great herd of cattle. All these summits are formed of lava. Dr. Stuhlmann says the region appears to be wonderfully well watered and to be covered with forests. He regards it as one of the most remarkable districts he has seen in Africa, and it probably will not long remain unexplored.

What You Should Do if You Suffer From the Dangerous Malady.

Disease of the kidneys has become better understood of late years, and has attracted much attention from its persistent character and the number of its victims. It has several forms, which may be included in an inflammation of one or both kidneys, producing a morbid condition of the gland and its secretions. The great remedy of the day for this distressing and dangerous disease is Paine's Celery Compound. This grand preparation has done more good, and effected a greater number of cures in this field of suffering, than all other remedies combined.

Within the present year many cases of long standing have been cured by Paine's Celery Compound, after the best physicians failed.

This wonderful preparation is being prescribed every day by medical men for affections of the kidneys. It goes direct to the root of the disease, and quickly removes every pain and difficulty.

Sufferer, we advise you to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial at once; it is the only remedy that can cure; the only medicine that can bring you satisfaction.

THE SEALERS.

The Russians have been considerate enough to send home in a schooner which they regarded as unseaworthy a number of the Canadian sealers they had captured. It seems that they have grown less piratical also, since the later victims were not despoiled of their personal property, as were the earlier. Then some of the schooners were only "warned," not seized, but it is not clear from what circumstance this moderation arose. The commander of the Zabiaka was at first going to seize all sealing schooners found within a thousand miles of Russian territory, so it is rather strange if he afterwards of his own volition reduced the limit to 60 miles. It may be that he had all the captives he cared to handle at once, or that he had heard of the British squadron visiting Siberian waters. At all events, there is cause for thankfulness that so many of the sealers have escaped from the misery of a story of the inhospitable shore of Siberia." But no credit attaches to either the Canadian or the British Government in the matter; for all they cared the captured sealers might have starved at Petropalouvsky or been transported to the Siberian penal settlements to work in the mines. It is not exactly a comforting thought that a large number of British Columbia Columbia citizens were left at the mercy of brutal captors, without one effort being made to give them assistance. Why they should have been treated with this callous neglect it is hard to comprehend, but most probably it was because they were "only sealers" and were therefore not considered worth troubling about. The many British Columbians who are interested in the sealing business may take what comfort they can out of this thought.

From all the reports it appears that there are yet three men left helpless on the Russian shore. Their position may well cause some disquietude, for it needs no vivid imagination to conceive the misery in prospect for them if they are obliged to spend the winter at Petropaulovsky. Some effort should be made to rescue them from such a plight.

THE OLD POLICY.

Judging from our morning contemporary's remarks, it is not at all pleasant to have the tortuous course of its Ottawa friends recalled to mind. But facts are facts, and neither the Colonist nor any of its kindred can successfully contradict the statement that within the past two years the Conservative Government has been, or pretended to be, on the search for a new policy, though at Petrolea the minister announced that they had nothing new to offer. The organ seeks to meet the statement by saying that the Abbott Government and the Macdonald Government are not to be considered the same. Such childish quibbling will hardly improve our neighbor's case, for its readers will remember, if it does not, that the Government's personnel is the same now as it was two years ago, except that Mr. Patterson and Mr. Ouimet have taken the places of Sir John Macdonald and Sir Hector Langevin. It is quite useless for any Conservative paper to endeavor to explain away the fact that the Government on the eve of the general election did seek to persuade the country that it had actually entered upon negotiations for a treaty of reciprocity. This was a "new policy" to the extent that the Government showed itself afraid that the people had become thoroughly dissatisfied with the old one. Its doubts were seen to be well founded, for it came within a very short distance of defeat, notwithstanding its attempt to deceive in the matter of reciprocity. Its relations with the 'preferential trade" scheme are of the same nature. The trifling with this fad was meant simply as a blind to keep the people from becoming too desperate under the burden of depression. Evidently the Ministers have concluded that the people have grown more contented, or else they have no hope of deceiving them further; hence the resolution to throw away all new devices and lean back on the old policy once more. Whether their resolution will hold good for another general election is at least doubtful.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Democrats, who are keeping a sharp watch on Br'er Blaine, thought they had detected that gentleman in the act of abstention from voting at the recent state election in Maine. The ex-secretary, however, has explained that instead of going from Bar Harbor to Augusta to vote, which would have cost him three days' time and considerable trouble, he "paired" with a Democratic friend. This was another good campaign story spoiled.

Some of the eastern Tory papers are earnestly discussing the question: Who was the father of the "national policy?" This must be about as satisfactory an occupation as that of the wild ass of the desert when he is "filling his belly with the east wind." The paternity of the "national policy" is not a thing to be proud of, and our Tory contemporaries are not at all doing honor to this or that man when they select him as the responsible parent. The day is pretty sure to come when they will be found trying to clear the memories of their particular friends from the disgrace of of having had any connection with so stupid a policy.

Toronto Mail:—With a view to entrenchment the Quebec Government has been revising its contracts for the care of lunatics and young criminals. The Beauport asylum is to be bought and transferred to the Grey Nuns, who will undertake the care of patients at $100 a year. The figure formerly paid was $132. The arrangement with the Montreal reformatory, conducted by the Belgian brothers, has been cancelled and renewed at a rate which means a reduction of $9000 annually. There was evidently room for improvement, but the changes do not strike at the root of the evil. Though it costs less the farming-out system still remains.

Says the Oregonian:—The verdict of a jury, right or wrong, means something in England. An illustration of this is found in the case of Mrs. Maybrick, the American woman undergoing a life sentence of imprisonment for poisoning her husband. Strenuous and systematic effort was brought to bear upon the Salisbury administration to secure her release, it being reasonably possible that she was unjustly convicted, but without avail. The efforts of her friends were renewed with confidence when the Gladstone Government came into power, but the new home secretary, Mr. Asquith, has followed the policy of his predecessor in refusing to recommend an exhibition of leniency by the queen. Upon the hypothesis that it is better for the guilty to go unpunished than for the innocent to suffer unjustly this sort of stubbornness is to be deplored, but when we see criminals of every class, from the murderer down to the hat-rack thief, go free under the provisions of pardon, it is but natural to sigh for "British justice," and forget the cruel injustice that it sometimes imposes in maintaining its character of infallibility.

GOD'S PECULIAR PEOPLE.

The Hebrews Enjoying Their New Year With Suitable Rites.

The Jewish New Year ends this evening at 7 o'clock. The celebration services which began last night, the commencement of New Year's day, were continued this morning. Rabbi Philo conducted the ceremonies in the synagogue. The services have a threefold significance. The day is regarded by the Hebrews as the day of memorial, the day of the blowing of the trump and Judgment Day. It is designated memorial day because it reminds one that another year has fled and that death and the grave are nearer. The blowing of the trumpet is a symbol. As the trumpet in ancient times was sounded to awaken the masses in cases of danger, so does it to-day awaken man to the danger of continuing a bad life. It is the day of judgment, for God who gave out his law to Moses on Mount Sinai, especially reiterates it the beginning of the year and those who do not comply with the law necessarily entail a judgment from the supreme power.

Socially, the Hebrews upon this day make New Year's calls and send to their friends cards of greeting and joy. At the synagogues of the orthodox Hebrews the various fruits are set out and offered as a sacrifice to the Most High. Saturday, October 1st, is the day of atonement. This day is set apart by the Hebrew church for man to acknowledge his sins, repent and endeavor to atone for them, and it is only upon this day, according to Hebrew belief, that forgiveness for wrongs committed can be asked by the wrong-doer.

Largest Tunnel in the World.

A tunnel, the longest in the world, has been projected and begun, practically under Simplon, to supersede the famous road constructed by Napoleon over the mountain. The "Route of the Simplon" is thirty-eight miles in length; the tunnel will be a trifle less than twelve miles and a half. The wagon road is 6592 feet above sea level, is twenty-five to thirty feet wide, crosses 611 bridges and passes through several tunnels. It takes eight or nine hours to cross the mountain by the wagon road; the tunnel can be traversed in three-quarters of an hour. The power to run the drills, light the workings and ventilate the tunnels is to be derived from the river Marsa. The cost is estimated at about $1,240,000 a mile.—New York Sun.

THEIR ANNUAL MEETING.

The Report of the Corresponding Secretary of the W.C.T.U.—Dr. Campbell Speaks.

Mrs. Spofford occupied the chair at the annual meeting of the W.C.T.U. held last evening. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. Dr. Campbell.

A report was read by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Hall. The report showed an increase in the union's membership, there now being 155 active and 60 honorary members. The report refers to the closing of the Standard Theatre and the refusal of a license to the Turner block, brought about through the efforts of the union. The work involved very heavy expense, but several gentlemen came to their rescue and aided the union financially.

The legal adviser is thanked for his services, which were given gratuitously. Miss Logan and Mrs. Moore are given credit for their work in connection with the hospital and Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Raynor are also mentioned for their services in prison work. The report further states "that out of 285 prisoners confined during the year, 112 were brought in through liquor." Mrs. Dr. Foote attended to narcotics and reports a decrease in the number of boys seen smoking on the streets. The work of Miss Humber in the flower mission and Mrs. Weir in literature work are reported on favorably.

Mrs. Burgess' mission work and the social purity department are mentioned as follows: "Realizing the temptation and evils to which many children of tender years were exposed by being allowed to run on the streets at unreasonable hours, the attention of the council was called to the fact, the result being that the police were instructed to see to it that after 9 o'clock no young children were to be allowed round the streets without a guardian. The necessity of some provision being made for aged women was brought to our notice by admission being sought by several into the Refuge Home; as there was no institution of that kind in the city, though the sum of $5000 is annually paid for the indigent old men, communication was held with the Mayor and Council asking that they give the matter their consideration. They expressed themselves fully in sympathy with the idea of some provision being necessary, but no definite conclusion has yet been arrived at."

The report concludes with a touching reference to the loss sustained by the union by the death of the Hon. John Robson.

Dr. Campbell complimented the members of the union on the work done, and referred at length to the temperance question.

SHIPPED AS FREIGHT.

A Political Prisoner Who Became Seasick While Shipped in a Box.

New York Sun.]

In January, 1891, a revolt against the Portuguese Government occurred in Oporto. A number of the leaders of the revolt were transported as prisoners to Angola, West Africa, and by various surreptitious methods they have left the country of their involuntary exile as rapidly as possible. A great many Portuguese in Angola are strongly republican in sentiment, and being far away from the central authority, they express their feelings quite openly and without much fear of punishment. They have assisted the leaders of the Oporto rebellion to escape. One of the leaders fled from Mossamedes in a sailing vessel. Two others departed from Loanda, the thriving metropolis of Angola. They were shipped as merchandise. Their friends packed them in two cases, in which a few holes had been made to let in the air. The shippers of these unusual packages requested that the boxes be kept on deck. The steamship that took the freight away was a French vessel, and the boxes were consigned to Gaboon, which is in French territory.

Unfortunately, before the vessel had gone many miles from Loanda one of the fugitives became violently seasick in his constrained and uncomfortable quarters. The Angola newspapers, which contain a report of the adventure, say that he became so desperately ill that he cared not whether he lived or died, and determined in his desperation to have more air, cost what it might. He knocked one of the boards off his box and was discovered by the crew. The French captain, who was furious at the imposition, put the fellow in chains, and, stopping at Ambriz, delivered him and his comrade to the Portuguese authorities. The contents of the other box had been suspected to be contraband as soon as one of the fugitives was discovered.

At Ambriz, however, the entire population is republican, and the prominent men of the town vied with one another to make the prisoners as comfortable as possible. In a few hours a handsome sum of money had been raised, and several days later they were clandestinely shipped to Gaboon, where they found their comrade from Mossamedes.

Another of the ringleaders was more fortunate in his attempt to escape in a box. He made the journey safely to Gaboon from Princes Island. The fugitives are enjoying civilization now in Paris, where they can bid defiance to the Portuguese Government because political prisoners are not extraditable.

Scarcity of English Oak.

English oak is scarce, lots offered for sale nowadays commanding large prices. At a sale of some oak trees in Burghley Park recently from £60 to £80 each was paid for trees. Half a dozen of the best trees sold for £81, £80, £72, £76, £64 and £61. One tree, containing 150 feet of lumber, sold for £80. A year ago an oak was sold for £110—nearly $600.

ABANDONED TO THEIR FATE.

The Russians Leave a Small Party of British Sealers Near Petropaulovsky.

Arrival of a Large Party of Sealers Set at Liberty by Their Russian Captors.

The friends of the seal hunters and boats' crews lost from the schooners E. B. Marvin, Ariel, Annie C. Moore and W. P. Sayward, received the first news of the men's safety in last evening's TIMES, when the announcement was made of their arrival in Vancouver.

A number of the men came down last evening. Among them were James Gallagher, of the E. B. Marvin, and C. H. Boyle, of the Annie C. Moore. From them it was learned that the crews of the Marvin, Sayward, and part of the Moore's and the Vancouver Belle had reached Vancouver on the schooner Prize, formerly the Rosie Olsen. It appears that with the object of getting rid of 34 men, the Russians gave Captain Copp, of the Vancouver Belle, the Rosie Olsen, which had been re-named the Prize, to bring the men home on. Nesbitt and Murray, two of the Moore's hunters and a boat puller were left on Copper Island. They were at another village when the Olsen left. Why the Russians did not send them back is not known. The Prize passed Victoria on the way to Vancouver, but the Victorians were not landed here.

Gallagher, of the E. B. Marvin, said that shortly after losing their schooner on Aug. 6th, he and his companions were met by two Russian boats manned by armed Cossacks. The Cossacks took the men aboard and asked where their schooner was. At first the men refused to say where she was, but being threatened with nothing to eat they said that she lay to the southeast, which was directly opposite to where they had left her. The Russians went out to look for her but came back disappointed.

Gallagher and his companions found six men from the Annie C. Moore and nine from the W. P. Sayward on Copper Island, where they were taken. All the men went to work on the Island and remained at work for ten days, at two roubles a day. At the end of that time a Russian warship came along and took the men to Petropaulovsky. The trip occupied nine days, during which time the sealers had to live with the seamen, on food that Gallagher says was not fit to eat, although the Russians seemed to enjoy it. At Petropaulovsky they had to live in a miserable cold hut. At night they would get up and run around to keep warm. The Governor gave them each 15 kopecks a day (about 7½ cents,) with which to buy food. The storekeeper from whom they purchased their provisions was very kind so they got along very well.

The Russian admiral came along about a month ago and gave the Rosie Olsen to Captain Copp, and although she was very poorly provisioned before starting, the men reached home in good health.

There were three Russian cruisers at Petropaulovsky when the Olsen, or Prize, left. All the seized schooners had been repainted and rechristened to be offered for sale.

Neither the Carlotta Cox or the Enterprise were there, so the report of their seizure is evidently incorrect, as surmised in last evening's TIMES.

The crew of the Annie C. Moore, of which C. H. Boyle was a member, had a more exciting time. They made an attempt to row away from the Russian boats when sighted on August the 3rd. A few shots from the Muscovites soon brought the sealers to a standstill. The Russians wanted to know where the schooner was, and Boyle sent them off in an opposite direction. When they found that they had been foiled the Russians put all the sealers in one boat and went after the schooner, but they came back without her. They, however, caught another of the Moore's crews and brought them on to the island. The next day the Zabiaca went after the schooner and running across three of the Sayward's crews brought them in. The same day the Vancouver Belle was seized and later on the American schooner Kate and Anne was overhauled and her skins taken away. The men were aboard the Zabisca when she overhauled the W. P. Hall. Boyle thinks they let the schooner go as they were afraid to reduce their crew by a prize crew for the Hall, which would have placed the Russians and Britishers on an equal standing as to numbers.

The Victorians still in Vancouver will be down to-night.

CANNOT HOLD HER.

Captain Copp, of Vancouver, to whom the Russians gave the schooner Rosie Olsen to bring the men home, claims that the vessel is now his. Captain Keefe and Mr. Andrew Gray, the managing owners of the schooner, called on Collector Milne to-day for advice. He advised them to demand the restitution of the schooner, and he gave them the necessary papers. They will go to Vancouver to make the demand.

"Do you think Captain Copp can hold the schooner?" asked a TIMES reporter of the collector.

"He certainly cannot," answered Mr. Milne. "The vessel is still on the register here in the custom house, and it is there stated that the Victorians own her. The register has not been changed, and, therefore, the schooner still belongs to Mr. Gray and his conferees. Captain Copp cannot have any title to her, as the schooner was not condemned by the Russian Government, and she certainly could not be given away or even sold before she was condemned. Besides this the schooner was never seized by the Russian Government, according to the captain's affidavit, like the other schooners. She was taken by the Commercial Company's steamer Kotick. Her skins were taken to Behring Island, but the governor refused to have anything to do with the schooner, her crew or outfit. She received the same treatment at Petropaulovsky, the officials there refusing to recognize the seizure, but at the same time holding the schooner."

THE MISSING MEN.

Some little anxiety is felt for Murray, Nesbitt and the seaman from the Annie C. Moore, who were left on the Siberian coast. They have got no warm clothing, and if they are not provided with some they will have a hard time of it when the cold weather comes on.

CLAIM TWO MORE SEIZURES.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 22.—The Capt. of the cruiser who seized the Vancouver Belle said his orders were to seize all schooners found within 100 miles of Copper Island or north of a line from those islands to Kamschatka. The Russians had up to the date the Olsen left seized the following schooners: Rosie Olsen, Carlotta Cox, Ariel, Willie MacGowan and Enterprise of Victoria; Vancouver Belle, Vancouver, and C. H. White and Kate and Anne of San Francisco. The Enterprise and Cox were at Vladivostock and the others at Petropaulovsky. There are still three men on Copper Island, where they are in danger of perishing if left for the winter.

THE COX IS HERE.

The anxiety felt for the Carlotta G. Cox on account of the reports that she had been seized were completely dispelled shortly after four o'clock this afternoon when she came in the harbor. She was accompanied by the schooner Umbrina. They arrived just as the TIMES was going to press.

THINKS IT WILL BE SETTLED.

Chief Inspector Spencer Speaks of the Transcontinental Association.

"Do you think there are any prospects of the breach in the transcontinental association being closed?" asked a TIMES reporter of Chief Inspector Spencer of the association, who arrived from the sound yesterday afternoon.

"President Hill, of the Great Northern, has given notice that he intends to withdraw," answered Mr. Hill, "but I think that the other roads will come to an agreement with him and continue the association. The interests of the different roads are identical and the uniformity of rates insured by the continuance of the association is of great benefit to them. It is also in the interests of the merchants, as when there is a continual change of rates, there is of course, annoying fluctuations in prices of goods. I do not know what President Hill complains of but among railroad men there is little doubt that everything will be settled to the satisfaction of all."

The Transcontinental Association has been in existence five years.

Mr. Spencer is here on an inspection trip. He leaves for Vancouver in the morning.

WELCOME NEWS.

The Tramcars Will Probably Run Again on Saturday.

An effort will be made to have the entire system of the electric tramway company in full operation on Saturday next. The temporary roof over the power house was tested to-day and proved thoroughly watertight. The boilers will be fired up to-morrow and the engines turned over, and all that the company is now waiting for is the completion of the Albion Iron Works' contract. The management of that institution has promised the company that the work will be pushed forward without cessation, night and day. The men will work all night to-night, and also to-morrow night, in strong relief gangs, in the effort to finish the contract at the time mentioned. If they finish by Saturday the cars are all ready to start. The two big 100-horse-power generators, generously loaned the N. E. T. & L. Company by the New Westminster and Vancouver Electric Railway Company, arrived yesterday and are now in position, all ready to begin their labors. Double gangs are rushing up the brickwork of the new power house at a surprising rate, the contractors being anxious to keep pace with the other departments and complete their contract in good time. The electric lighting department will resume business early next week. The question of whether the cars shall run or not on Saturday rests with the Albion Iron Works.

Want Their Schooner.

The Indian owners of the schooner Mountain Chief seized in Behring Sea and brought to Victoria, call on Collector Milne almost every day to know what is to be done with their schooner. The matter is now in the hands of the Admiralty and out of the collector's hands, so he can do nothing. It is thought probable that the schooner will be released as the Indians were ignorant of the law.

First Official Visit.

Canton Victoria No. 1 paid their first official visit since organization last evening to Columbia Lodge, No. 2, in full dress uniform under the command of Capt. W. E. Holmes. It is their intention to pay a visit to Acme Lodge, No. 14, on Friday evening and the other two lodges next week. Without doubt their uniforms are the finest of any secret society on the coast.

The remanded case of Ah Hing charged with cutting and wounding Ah Mee was further adjourned till Friday morning. The prosecution was not ready.

Tripped the Light Fantastic Toe.

About 100 invited guests of Mrs. Conway, of the Four Mile House, had an excellent good time in dancing, banquetting and other social pleasures. The occasion was a dual one. The fourth anniversary of Mrs. Conway's eldest daughter's marriage and the opening of the elegant new Four Mile dance hall. The fifty couple of guests found the floor simply perfect for the purposes of the dance and on all sides admiring comments could be heard upon the spaciousness, beauty and other good qualities of the hall. The supper was a supper such as Mrs. Conway prides herself in providing, and was a masterpiece of good cookery; there was abundance in all good things. The party broke up this morning thoroughly pleased with the entertainment.

GENII OF THINGS UNKNOWN.

The Veil to be Drawn To-Morrow Night in the Victoria Theatre.

To-morrow night, September 21st, at the Victoria theatre, Dr. Slade and other noted mediums will give a seance for the purpose of demonstrating spirit power in full gaslight. Dr. Slade is a mysterious being, who has mystified the world by his superhuman power. He apparently defies all laws, natural and spiritual, and produces such unbounded evidence as to convince either the believer or unbeliever. The clergy, the press, learned synods and councils, sage philosophers and scientists, and in fact the world have proclaimed the philosophical idealism to be an astonishing fact. The manifestations which take place in his presence have been submitted to the cool, bright steel of scientific minds, who experience nothing but fact. There is not a member among them but who says that in the presence of Dr. Slade there is a wonderful intelligence outside of the physical body which can annihilate space. But what that power is there is a diversity of opinion. Some believe it is the spirit of the dead. A night of wonderful manifestatons. The veil is drawn so that all may have an insight into the spirit world and see many things that are strange and startling. Scientific men and great men have believed there was a grain of essential truth in the claims of spiritualism. It was believed more on account of the want of power to deny it than anything else. The idea that under some strained and undefined possibilities the spirit of mortal man may communicate with the spirit of departed man is something that the great heart of humanity is prone to believe, as it has faith in future existence. Dr. Slade will fully demonstrate the various methods employed by such renowned spirit mediums as Maud Lord, Mrs. Hoffman, Professor Taylor, Charles Cook, Richard Bishop, Dr. Arnold and others, in plain, open light, and every possible means will be used to enlighten the audience. A small admission will be charged.

THE GRAND BAZAAR.

Well Deserved Success Attends the Sale in Aid of Christ Church Building Fund.

The Spacious Hall Presents a Beautiful Aspect—Fine Music by the Naval Bands.

The Market Hall last night presented a very animated appearance. The number in attendance was large despite the wet weather. The hall was illumined by thousands of Chinese lanterns which threw an effulgence of light on the uniquely pretty drapings and decorations. That the effect was appreciated by others than those inside the spacious building was evident by the large crowd of celestials who peered through the iron grating of the large entrance gate and seemed much pleased with the oriental lanterns. The Warspite band contributed the music yesterday. And the musical programme alone well repaid the small admission fee. In the centre of the ground floor is a fountain which throws its crystal-sparkling waters over a pleasing stretch of verdue. Streamers adorn the walls of the building and flags are arranged at fitting intervals. It is in the upper court that the bazaar proper is being held, and here the ladies have done all that deft hands and artistic fingers can accomplish.

A visitor to the bazaar in aid of the Christ Church Cathedral building fund cannot bestow a better compliment than wish that success be commensurate with the unremitting toil—pleasant, for it is a good work—of the ladies who are in charge of the bazaar.

At the head of the stairs to the right is the children's booth. The little ones are attired in spotless white and stand in waiting to dispose of the many articles that adorn the stall. Mrs. E. H. Hiscocks is in charge. The lava work exposed for sale speaks highly of the artistic ingenuity of the little ladies in white. Adjoining the children's booth is the cathedral stall. This stall is also known as Butterfly Booth. Mrs. Charles Kent presides and is assisted by Mrs. Dr. Jones, Mrs. Berkley, Mrs. Schroeder, Mrs. Westington, Mrs. Kent and Mrs Scott. Fancy articles of many pretty patterns can be seen. They adorn the stall on every hand and an admirer of the beautiful would have difficulty in his selection of the choicest. At the "art union," the painted china work of Miss Ethel McMicking, Miss Shrapnel and Miss Christie is the principal display. Paintings, carvings and statuettes, contributions from different denominations are also exhibited. Mrs. R. Roskell Bayne is in charge, ably assisted by Mrs. Phillips-Johnston and Miss Woods.

Madames Wilson, J. E. Davie and Turner, have made full preparations for the sumptuous fare of those who attend the bazaar. The high tea served from 6 to 8 o'clock in the evening has made patrons and this speaks for itself of the excellent viands displayed for epicurean palates. The tea stall is under the supervision of Mrs. Beanlands. A toy booth is well stocked with play things pleasing to the juvenile mind, and Mrs. J. E. Earsman, Miss A. F. Gardiner and Miss Short and Miss Carter are ladies who know how to sell their wares. The articles on Christ Church building workers stall are principally made by the members of that association. The young lady assistants wear their society badges and well succeed in persuading the doubtful purchaser. Mrs. P. Wollaston is in charge.

The medley stall is under the direction of Miss Gray and Mrs. H. Croft. Misses Dunsmuir and Misses Hill are managing the imported articles booth. The most fastidous "gent" can be supplied at the gentleman's stall. The stock is large and varied and Mrs. Baillie-Grohman, Miss Crease and Miss Beaven each possess persuasive powers of a high order. For the small sum of five cents Mrs. Dumbleton, Mrs. A. Pinder, and Miss Newton will wrap up a parcel for you. Mrs. A. McBean, Mrs. Culver, Miss Goddard and Miss Ida Jackson do a good trade in confectionaries and as many a "sweet tooth" visits the bazaar they are kept constantly occupied packing up sweetmeats. The blue and white decorations at the fancy stall of Miss Richards are a well executed piece of draping. Miss K. Davie, Miss Prior and Miss Wilson are efficient assistants. At Mrs. Ward's fancy work booth are arranged articles that would tempt the lover of fancy work. Miss Ward, Miss Edith Ward, Miss McClay and Miss Davie are assistants. At the flower booth sits a pretty "little lady" in white, with deep blue eyes and a basket of charming bouquets and there are few pass without investing in this small and neat adornment.

Mrs. J. Wastie Green, Mrs. Peacock and Miss Charles have the management of this booth. Miss Dunsmuir is in charge of the musical entertainment room. Mrs. O'Reilly's booth is devoted to general goods, of which there is a fine array. Miss Nellie Drake and Miss Pooley are assistants.

Finely flavored ice cream may be had at the stall of Mrs. Gooding and Mrs. K. Jones.

The St. John's jamble store is the last stall in the pleasing circle. Mrs. Dr. Renwick is in charge. Misses Lizzie Mesher, Baldwin, Jenns, Monro, Barber, Staples, Twiss, Mrs. Yates and Johnston are assistants.

The business men's luncheon served by the ladies of the bazaar this noon was well patronized. The attendance this afternoon was fair. The band of the French flagship Dubourdieu played several choice selections.

Prof. Loemans' studio is attracting great attention. The studio is thronged with admirers of fine art. The chief works exhibited are "The Cascade Mountains" and "Stanley in Africa. The French band will give a grand concert this evening.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

I observed a very excellent caution yesterday upon a householder's gate in the city. It referred to the habits of some who prefer abstracting newspapers from the doors of those who pay for the article rather than paying for them themselves. The motto read thus: "Look out newspaper thief;" and again in smaller letters: "Caution, newspaper thief." There is no doubt that many papers are thus stolen, but the thief who perpetrates such a felony must be mean, very mean indeed. None of the "Dick Turpin" chivalry about him. If it is "only a newspaper" that is taken, it is nevertheless stealing and is punishable in the criminal courts.

Writing of newspapers, a teacher of the High School yesterday requested his pupils to correct this sentence: "The Colonist has the largest circulation in the province." The sentence was immediately corrected by the boys with one accord shouting: The TIMES has the largest circulation in the province, to the evident discomforture of the teacher and the boisterous merriment of his class. Of course the teacher hastened to explain that he only desired the grammar and not the facts corrected. The boys were right; instinct, ocular demonstration and dollars are arguments strong enough for them, and I admire the honesty and unanimity with which they recorded their views. "Out of the mouths of boys hast thou ordained wisdom."

A report is being circulated that the Canada Western is negotiating to buy up the E. & N. Railway. How far this may be correct I cannot tell. Possibly the "wish is father to the thought, or, on the other hand the promoters of the Canada Western may think that a combined interest will be preferable, and are really desirous of obtaining it. There is no doubt that it will save complications and rivalry to acquire it, but I sincerely hope the Canada Western will "paddle its own canoe." The people of British Columbia are well nigh strangers to railroad competition and a little of the luxury would be most enjoyable.

I have been looking anxiously at the reports of cases in the police court to see if the escapade of the son of one of our leading citizens has met with its well-merited punishment. The young man in question was on Saturday week the observed of observers in the centre of the city, having been ejected from a saloon. The policeman who took him in charge, together with 50 other citizens, can testify to his being drunk and disorderly, to the foul language used and the general want of decorum induced by intoxicating drink. Why was he allowed to go home in a hackney coach instead of being removed to the police cells? Why, if allowed to go, was he not summoned in due course? Are the police afraid to do their duty, or in the case in question was any influence or money brought to bear to close up the matter? If a "poor Indian, whose untutored mind," or an unfortunate Chinaman had acted thus, would the police have winked at the occurrence? Alderman Humber, there is an old proverb which says: "What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," and you as chairman of the police committee should enquire into the whole business.

Chief Sheppard has begun a work in the raiding of certain houses that many—even Moral Reformers—will look upon with mixed feelings. Most citizens think that while it may be good to harrass and worry both the keepers and inmates of such houses, that therefore they may be induced to leave the city, yet justice demands that the greater sinners, the men who frequent and the landlords who rent the houses, shall not allowed to go scot-free. I am afraid, sadly afraid, that the affair yesterday was after all a sham-fight, very sham indeed.

I can, however, suggest to Chief Sheppard a sphere in which he will obtain greater glory than even prosecuting the inmates of houses of ill-fame. The Chinese lotteries, or gambling dens, should be put down with a strong hand. Now, you will observe, Chief Sheppard, that the Chinese have no friends in the city; there will be no sentimentality evoked if you resolve to prosecute them; you know their location well; you can be certain of obtaining a conviction if you do not bungle in the matter; and you will hand your name down to posterity as the champion of civic virtue. Here is an opportunity distinguishing yourself, and I am willing to bear testimony to your peculiar fitness for the work. Why not try it?

Everybody is anxious about the sealers, and interested in the sealing question genefally. I make no apology, therefore, for proffering advice to the Provincial Government. Let a deputation of two or three be sent by the Government to the Mother Country, acting in concert with the Ottawa Cabinet, who shall be commissioned to obtain interviews with the Foreign Secretary and other members of the Government, and thus lay before them the whole of the vexed question between our sealers and other nations. The seizures of last year and this, together with a full and complete statement of the sealing business, would be more carefully considered than mere printed matter or second-hand evidence. The cost of such a commission would not be great, and the advantages are apparent and many. QUIZ.

Mrs. Million's Ride.

When Mrs. Million goes to ride she travels forth in state;
Her horses, full of fire and pride, go prancing
from the gate;
But all the beauties of the day she views with languid eye,
Her flesh in weakness wastes away, her voice is but a sigh.

For Mrs. Million is in an advanced of catarrh, and all the luxuries that wealth can buy fail to give her comfort. She envies her rosy waiting maid, and would give all her riches for that young woman's pure breath and blooming health. Now, if some true and disinterested friend would advise Mrs. Million of the wonderful merits of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, she would learn that her case is not past help. $500 reward is offered by the manufacturers for a case of catarrh in the head which they cannot cure.

THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Another Session That Stretches Its Weary Length Into the Witching Hour.

Resolutions on Contagious Diseases and Sewerage Cause Lengthy Discussions.

Aldermen Hunter, Lovell, Munn, Hall, Styles, Bragg and McKillican were in their seats in the council chamber a few minutes past 8 o'clock last night. Mayor Beaven did not appear till twenty minutes later.

An alderman had just jocularly prepared a vote of censure when the Mayor entered the chamber and cut short the little aldermaniac joke.

Twenty minutes were then taken up in the reading of the minutes of the three special meetings.

COMMUNICATIONS.

L. Mosier wanted the position of caretaker of the suspect station. Mosier asked $50 per month and agree to supply board to suspects for $4 per week.

Ald. Lovell understood there were only eight in the suspect station.

The Mayor thought that it would be necessary to have some one take care of the property, even if there were no suspects in the station. Referred to the board of health.

From the British Columbia Agricultural Association inviting the council to the fair. Six tickets were enclosed. they were distributed among the members of the council. Ald. Hunter was the seventh member and did not get one. He asked for the envelope. The Mayor handed him the invitation itself.

From W. H. Bainbridge, offering to improve the Gorge road, expending $150 if the council would refund the money when it became rich.

Ald. Styles wanted the request granted. The council had recommended that a certain amount be given if the Government gave a similar amount. The Government was then unable to supply the funds. He did not like to see the council "calk out."

Moved by Ald. Munn, that Mr. Bainbridge be informed that there was a loan by-law shortly to be put before the ratepayers and that the matter would then receive attention.

Ald. Styles moved in amendment that the request of Mr. Bainbridge be granted. The original motion prevailed.

WANTED AN EXPLANATION.

Ald. Hunter rose to a question o privilege. He wanted the British Columbia Association ticket affair explained. He thought that the Mayor should take the Council to the fair in a body. The Mayor did not see it that way.

Ald. McKillican said the tickets should be returned. Ald. Styles suggested a pool. Ald. Bragg said the Council might pay their way.

From the ratepayers of Luxton street James Bay, asking that water be laid along that street. Referred to water committee.

Jesse M. Cowper would rent a piece of Victoria property for right of way to the water. The land was situate near the gas works. Referred to water committee and city empowered to act.

REPORTS.

Warrants were recommended by the finance committee for Board of Health, $539.32; waterworks, $73.20; police, $15; fire, $42.85; city engineer, $3.75; miscellaneous, $175.50; miscellaneous, $70; miscellaneous, $8; miscellaneous, $3.75; making a total of $972.72. Adopted.

Report from finance committee, stating that they had paid for streets, bridges and sidewalks, $409.11, and asking commendation of the council. Adopted.

Ald. Styles in speaking to his motion for the defining of street centres in Victoria West, said that as matters existed it was a great inconvenience to the inhabitants as the line of streets was unknown. He thought that the street commissioners ought to get to work on this matter.

The Mayor stated that the commissioners were appointed last year and according to the municipal act the commissioners being appointed for last year could not act this year.

Ald. Styles said that the surveyors had pressed the matter upon him. The defined map of Ald. Styles had been taken away and someone had borrowed the Mayor's books so the matter was given a week's rest.

Ald. Munn moved—That with a view to the city being at all times well prepared to prevent the spread of contagion or infectious diseases of malignant characters, dangerous to the public health, a committee of three be appointed for the purpose of conferring with a like committee of the Jubilee Hospital directors for the purpose of discussing the establishment and maintenance of an infectious disease hospital either in connection with or as part of the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The great difficulty of the smallpox outbreak was to find a place to nurse the sick. It would have saved the city many thousands of dollars and many heart burnings. The Jubilee Hospital directors favored the scheme.

The Mayor agreed with Ald. Munn. He did not think that such a place would be established and maintained out of the present year's revenue.

The resolution was unanimously carried and a committee consisting of Ald. Hunter, McKillican and the mover were appointed according to the terms of the resolution.

Ald. Lovell moved that in view of the prevalence of smallpox in Asia and cholera in Europe, and the arrival in British Columbia from Asia of person infected with smallpox, and of cholera-infected vessels at the Atlantic ports of North America, the Dominion Government be requested to instruct its officials on the Pacific coast to provide for the observance of the quarantine laws, and most careful examination of vessels and cargo arriving at any port in British Columbia. Also as to the necessity of employing officers to examine all importations of merchandise and persons coming into Vancouver Island either from foreign or domestic ports, so as to prevent the introduction of smallpox or cholera in the city of Victoria. And further that the Dominion Government be requested to refund to the corporation of Victoria all expenses incurred this year which are incidental to quarantine matters and to the inspection of railway trains and passengers and vessels, passengers and cargoes arriving in the city; also the expense and loss the city and its citizens have been put to and have suffered in consequence of the introduction of smallpox in the city consequent upon the inadequate quarantining at the Albert Head station of vessels arriving from Asiatic ports.

Ald. Lovell thought it only equitable that the Dominion Government should share some of the expense, as the cause of the epidemic had been traced to the ineffectual quarantine.

Ald. Hunter said the council were two months behind time. The Provincial Government had forestalled them.

Ald. Lovell thought it would not do any harm to pass the resolution.

Ald. Munn laid the blame of the recent outbreak at the door of the Dominion Government. He said the Dominion Government would not do any more than they were obliged to. This was illustrated in the recent cholera precautions in the East. The municipal authorities and the Provincial Government had taken the matter up, then the Dominion moved. There were a hundred thousand dollars monthly going out of the province in custom dues and very little coming in again.

Ald. Hunter claimed that the Provincial Government were doing their best, and read to the council a letter from Hon. Theo. Davie in reply to a letter written by him on the subject. The letter reads:—

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Victoria, Sept. 14, 1892.

Joseph Hunter, Esq., M.P.P.:

DEAR SIR,—Replying to your letter of today's date, asking to be informed what steps, if any, the Government has taken in respect to quarantine matters, and with the view of drawing the attention of the Dominion Government to that, and other questions seriously affecting the health of the city and province, I beg to state that two Orders in Council upon the subject have been passed and transmitted to the Dominion Government, the one under date August 4, and the other August 27.

The minutes referred to go extensively into quarantine matters, and among other things, strongly urge upon the Dominion Government—

1. The establishment of a permanent quarantine station at Albert Head, and the complete equipment of such station with all apparatus necessary for fumigating and otherwise disinfecting ships and cargo, and the providing of ample accommodation for the treatment of all persons suffering from contagious disease or who have been exposed to contagion.

2. The establishment of regulations requiring all vessels to be inspected at such station before proceeding to port.

3. The maintenance of a quarantine Medical Officer at such station.

4. The alteration of existing regulations so as to make it obligatory that vessels upon which are Asiatic cholera, fever, smallpox, scarlatina or other infectious and dangerous disease, be quarantined for 14 days or such other period as will serve as a guard against the introduction of disease, and the granting to the Quarantine Officer plenary powers of detention and regulation. Exhaustive facts are quoted in proof of the assertion that the recent epidemic of smallpox was introduced from Asiatic ports, and that the responsibility for its introduction lies with the authorities to whom is entrusted the promulgation and enforcement of quarantine regulations. The claim is made against the Dominion Government that the expense to which the provincial authorities have been put, on account of the introduction of smallpox, is chargeable to the Dominion Government and they are invited to join in a commission to take evidence, and ascertain the facts of the case.

I may also inform you that the appointment of a commission upon the subject is likely to be announced at an early date.

Considerable telegraphic correspondence has also ensued.

I am, dear sir,
Yours very truly,
THEODORE DAVIE.

The Mayor said the letter was very well in itself, but did not say anything about the city's expenditures. The resolution at length prevailed.

Ald. McKillican moved that the city repair Ross Bay wharf and use it as a place for the disposal of the city garbage.

Ald. Styles said this plan had been tried before. The garbage was washed on the beach and an injunction was obtained by the citizens. Another injunction would be obtained in this case. The city could expropriate Henley Point and the adjoining land and erect a good crematory. The Mayor stated that land could not be expropriated for the dumping of garbage. Ald. Styles thought this was sewerage.

Ald. Bragg advocated for the present the rebuilding of the old wharf. The city would like to build a crematory. But there was no money either for the buying of land or building of a crematory.

The Mayor stated that if the council wanted to dump the garbage at Ross Bay they only had to instruct the scavengers to dump it at low tide. It would get out equally as far as by dumping it at the wharf.

Ald. Bragg said if it did not work back the garbage was better there, where it came in contract with the salt water, then were the filth holes in the Work estate, Spring Ridge and other places. They did not want any more cesspools about the city. The question by consent of the mover was given a week's hoist.

Ald. Styles moved that a committee be appointed to wait upon the Provincial Government in regard to the expenditures of the city during the smallpox visitation and report to the council.

Ald. Munn did not object to the deputation, but he would not like to see city go on a begging expedition.

Ald. Bragg said he did not care where the money came from. They wanted the money to "stave over." The ratepayers had understood the Attorney-General to say that the Government would undertake some portions of the expenses.

Ald. Hall thought that it was the duty of the Government to help keep the city in a proper sanitary condition.

Ald. Munn said the City Council and the Mayor of Vancouver had not come down to ask the Government for money. Victoria should not do so. The matter was carried.

Ayes—Alds. Styles, Hunter, Bragg, Hall and McKillican.

Nays—Ald. Lovell and Munn.

The committee appointed were Ald. Styles, Bragg and Hall. Ald. Styles had asked the Mayor to appoint the committee. He had a difficulty being the mover himself. The mover and seconder were previously upon the committee. The Mayor stated that there was no parliamentary practice to that effect.

Ald. Styles reported that, with all due respect to the chair, it would be better for the council if there was a little less parliamentary procedure and more municipal government.

Ald. Munn moved that the clerk write asking what the Esquimalt waterworks company would charge for the use of water for hydrants for Victoria West during fires. Carried.

Ald. Hunter moved: "That in the opinion of this council it is desirable to have the sewerage works carried out and completed within the area bounded as follows: Commencing at a point on the shore line of the Straits of Fuca where the east side of Moss street produced southerly would strike said shore line, thence easterly along said shore line a distance of 266 feet, more or less, to a point in line of the eastern boundary of lot 51, thence northerly across lot 82 and public road to the south-east corner of lot 51, thence along the eastern boundaries of lots 51, 50, 49, 48, 47, 46, 45, 44, and 43, thence in line of the said eastern boundary of lot 43 to Fort street, thence westerly along Fort street to Fernwood road, thence northerly along Fernwood road to South road, thence westerly along South road to Chambers street, thence westerly along Pembroke avenue to Quadra street, thence northerly along Quadra and Fourth streets to Topaz avenue, thence westerly along Topaz avenue to the Saanich road, thence southerly along the Saanich road to the eastern extension of Garbelly road, thence along said extension of Garbelly road to the Victoria Arm, thence following the shore line of Victoria Arm, Victoria harbor and the Straits of Fuca to the point of commencement.

The motion carried although objection was offered that there were four vacant aldermanic chairs. The council adjourned at midnight.

BIG GAME GOING.

The Extermination of Elephants and Giraffes in Africa.

Geographical Magazine.]

An article by Mr. Bryden in the last proceedings of the British Zoological Society says the days of the giraffe are numbered. A few years ago herds of them were often met in various parts of Africa. Bryden says that nineteen giraffes are now a large herd. They have been hunted so mercilessly, both by natives and foreign sportsmen, that they are rapidly becoming extinct. The intelligent African king, Khama, has, however, taken the giraffe under his own protection and hopes to save it from extermination. He has forbidden the hunting of the giraffe in his large domain and in this way he hopes they will multiply in his country. It is an interesting fact that Russia has preserved the European bison from extinction by setting apart a forest in Lithuania for them and permitting no one to molest them.

It has been very generally believed, says a writer in a recent number of the Great Divide, that the bison has become practically distinct, but that belief does not appear to be borne out by facts. Not very long ago Captain Anderson sent out Burgess, the civilian scout attached to the post in the National or Yellowstone Park in Wyoming, to make a journey south of the Hayden Valley. The purpose of the trip was to see whether any signs of poachers could be found, and also incidentally to discover what could be learned as to the game in the open country to the south. The scout has lately returned and made his report, which is to the effect that there is an abundance of elk in the Hayden Valley, but it is in respect to the bison that his discoveries are most encouraging. In the Hayden Valley he saw and approached quite close to several herds of bison, which he counted. One of these contained 78 animals, a second 50, a third 110, and a fourth 15. Besides these, several single bisons were seen, and at quite a distance some other scattering groups which could not be counted. Mr. Burgess does not hesitate to say that he saw fully 300 animals.

It is not to be supposed that at the time of this visit anywhere near all the bison in the park were collected in the Hayden Valley, and it is altogether reasonable to believe that there are 100 and perhaps 400 other buffalo in the park besides those which Mr. Burgess saw. Taking, however, the lowest number, there would be 400 buffaloes in the National Park at the present time. This is believed to be a conservative estimate, and to be considerably under the truth. These bisons are to be divided into six classes—calves, yearlings, two-year-olds, three-year-olds, bulls and cows. This would give us, at the lowest estimate, from fifty to seventy breeding cows. While all these cows may not produce calves each year they must represent an annual increase of at least thirty-six to forty head. This is taking the most unfavorable view of the number of cows and the rate at which they breed. Mr. Burgess is entirely disposed to think that the calf crop among the bisons of the National Park this year will be from 75 to 100 animals. However this may be it is quite clear that there is in the National Park, living under entirely natural conditions and yet protected from attacks by men, a breeding stock of bisons sufficiently large to keep that reservation fully stocked for all time, a condition which cannot fail to be very gratifying.

He Got It G[illegible]

London Hospital.]

"Have you noticed," said a gilded youth in Hyde Park, "how much taller the girls have been these last few seasons than formerly?" The remark was just, and though it did not seem to strike the critic the reason for the change is obvious enough. These tall girls, with their graceful figures and free movements, have had an education in gymnastics, which has developed them to a point of physical perfection of which their mothers never dreamed.

A recent critic complained that little women had "gone out" in fiction, and perhaps this has happened because to a great extent the little woman has gone out in real life. So much the better, for though in stories, and perhaps in courting days, there is something fascinating in the heroine's bird-like flutterings, in her nestling timidly in the hero's protecting arms or standing on tiptoe to fasten a flower in his buttonhole, the charming fairy was apt, if you only knew it, to become an invalid in maturer life and spend half her time upon the sofa. The lady who reclines upon a sofa has also vanished from fiction, at least as an interesting and attractive character, and to die of consumption is no longer romantic. Health is in fashion—in the park and elsewhere.

Bridging the English Channel.

Presiding recently at the fourth annual general meeting of the Channel Bridge and Railway Company, held at the offices in London, Mr. P. Stanhope read the report of the council of administration. This set forth that the technical committee of eminent engineers appointed last year had considerably modified the earlier projects for the construction of a bridge across the English Channel. As a result of careful soundings taken a couple of years ago, a new route had been adopted, which would considerably shorten the distance. The number of piers would be reduced from 121, as originally intended, to 72, and the spans would be increased to 400 and 500 metres alternately from one end of the bridge to the other, while the work would be of such a character as to obviate every possible risk. It would at the same time be of such a simple character that the time required for its completion would only be seven years, four of which would be occupied by operations in the sea. In consequence of the increased span adopted and the new system of lighting and buoying, navigation would be in no way impeded. The total cost of construction and interest till traffic could be opened was estimated at thirty-two million sterling.

Cure for the Earache.

There are simple remedies for the most common disorders requiring no skilled attention, and even experts are often willing to give away cures that any one can manage. No doubt many people have thanked the man who published without a patent this easy relief for the earache.

"I am afraid I have greatly interfered with my own practice," said a celebrated aurist, "by giving the following advice to many of my friends:

"At the first symptoms of earache let the patient lie on the bed with the painful ear uppermost. Fold a thick towel and tuck it around the neck; then with a teaspoon fill the ear with warm water.

Continue doing this for 15 or 20 minutes. The water will fill the ear orifice and flow over on the towel. Afterward turn over the head, let the water run out and plug the ear with warm glycerine and cotton.

"This may be done every hour until relief is obtained. It is an almost invariable cure, and has saved many cases of acute inflammation. The water should be quite warm, but not too hot."
—London Tit-Bits.

The Kaiser's Great Wealth.

William II is at this moment the richest sovereign of Europe. As Emperor of Germany he does not receive a thaler toward his expenses. The Reichstag, however, votes him every year a sum of 2,000,000 marks under the heading, "Funds placed at the disposition of the Emperor for distribution." Of this amount, and according to minute calculations which have been submitted to the Reichstag, 2,467,000 marks are given to invalids who did not receive state pensions after the great war of 1870. As King of Prussia he has had until recently 12,219,296 marks a year, derived from two sources, viz., 7,710,296 marks, revenue from crown lands and forests, and 4,500,000 marks voted by the chamber as necessary to the maintenance of royal dignity. The sum was quite sufficient for William I., but his grandson has larger views and cannot do with his grandsire's allowance; so the Prussian Landtag has given him a supplementary 3[illegible],000 marks; making his civil list in all £800,000.—London Society.

The Oldest Woman

The oldest people are continually dying, but the very oldest are comparatively rare. The very oldest one recently reported is Madame Margarita Rivera, grandmother of Governor Galad, of the State of Coahuila, Mexico. She died Friday last at Monterey, at the ripe old age of 132. She was a Spaniard by birth and went to Mexico a century ago. Recently she received from the Archbishop of Madrid a copy of the record of her birth on file at the cathedral there. For several years she had been in feeble health and had been confined to her room.

HOW TO GET A CAMP KIT.

The Articles Required Need Not Cost More Than Twenty Dollars.

If you get a guide it will be better to let him furnish the camp kit. Otherwise take each an ax, a baker, 2-quart bread pan, wooden butter box, can opener, coffeepot (which will do for the tea), three forks, bags for provision, two frying pans, four tin plates, two 2-quart tin pails, four pint tin dippers, three teaspoons, one large spoon, an A tent 7 by 8, salt shaker, pepper box, potato bag, three knives, one 3-quart iron kettle.

You can put all these things save the tent into two flour barrels, and these are convenient to handle when in transit or when changing camping grounds.

If you want birds take a shotgun, though if you have a guide and are in a country where there is large game, let the guide kill the partridge by shooting the heads off with a rifle, or you can do it yourself. If you expect to go into a duck country, take a double barreled gun.

A cheap rod is as available as an expensive one, and often a willow pole is better than a rod. But have plenty of line, hooks and sinkers.

Such an outfit, even if newly purchased, need not cost over twenty dollars, aside from the tent, and, if it be taken care of, the expense of fitting out next year will be reduced nearly one-half.

How to Make a Proposal.

Don't write unless distance makes it necessary. Don't get down on your knees or indulge in silly romantics, for honest love has sense about it as well as sentiment. Meet the lady of your choice face to face, explain to her your worldly prospects, ask her to share your fortunes, and if she says yes, well and good; but if her answer is a negative, don't blow your brains out, get drunk or become a misanthrope.

How to Crystallize Grasses.

Very pretty mantel ornaments may be easily made by gathering clusters of the various field grasses at the season of their greatest beauty and crystallizing them in alum water. All that is necessary is alum, water and an earthen jar large enough to hold the grasses. Dissolve the alum in cold water (a pound to a quart) and warm it slightly. Tie the grass, which must be well dried, to a stick and lay the stick across the top of the jar so that the grass will be submerged. Keep in a cool place for twelve hours without moving. Take out the grass and hang it up to dry. If necessary repeat this twice or thrice. The water may be colored with indigo, Prussian red or saffron tea if desired.

The First Suspenders Cr[illegible]

"It was late in the winter of 1890-91 that suspenders were first displayed as a part of a feminine costume in Philadelphia," said a member of the local 400 at Cape May a few days ago, "and I had quite forgotten the incident until this morning, when I read something in a newspaper letter from Bar Harbor about the girl who first displayed the novelty.

"And where do you suppose she took occasion to make the display? Why, of all the places—the Assembly, and you may well believe me that they created not only a mild sensation but a good deal of adverse comment. The suspenders were of rich yellow satin and supported a black V-shaped belt, also of satin, and the rest of the costume was of black tulle and gold braid. The girl was handsome, with a splendid figure, and was not a Philadelphian, although she often visits here, where she has relatives high in society. One thing alone prevented us women from considering the costume a freak, and that was that the girl had been stopping for two months with one of the Vanderbilts in New York, and it was, therefore, likely that the idea had just come from Paris. No one copied the idea that season, however, nor have I seen it applied to a ball dress since."

Shakespeare's Simplicity.

Many of Shakespeare's contemporary poets must have had every advantage that he had in practical experience of the stage, and all of them had probably as familiar an intercourse with the theater as he. But what a difference between their manner of constructing a play and his! In all his dramatic works his skill in this is more or less apparent. In the best of them it is unrivaled. From the first scene of them he seems to have beheld as from a tower the end of all. In "Romeo and Juliet," for example, he had his story before him, and he follows it closely enough; but how naturally one scene is linked to the next and one event leads to another.

If this play were meant to illustrate anything it would seem to be that our lives were ruled by chance. Yet there is nothing left to chance in the action of the play which advances with the unvacillating foot of destinity. And the characters are made to subordinate themselves to the interests of the play as to something in which they have all a common concern. With the greater part of the secondary dramatists the characters seem like unpracticed people trying to walk the deck of a ship in rough weather, who start for everywhere to bring up anywhere, and are hustled against each other in the most inconvenient way.

It is only when the plot is very simple and straightforward that there is any chance of smooth water and of things going on without falling foul of each other. Was it only that Shakespeare, in choosing his themes, had a keener perception of the dramatic possibilities of a story? This is very likely, and it is certain that he preferred to take a story ready to his hand rather than invent one. All the good stories, indeed, seem to have invented themselves in the most obliging manner somewhere in the morning of the world, and to have been camp followers when the famous march of mind set out from the farthest east.—James Russell Lowell in Harper's.

How the One 'Possum Became Nine.

The fact that the opossum is a marsupial does not seem to be common knowledge. Anyway it was revealed to a man who lives on Long Island in an odd manner not long ago. He killed one of the animals in his garden with a gun and dragged the carcass to the house. The hired man told him that by taking it to the magistrate at Patchogue, some five miles distant, he could get a bounty of fifty cents, which was offered by the county. The man did not at the time have any occasion to go to the town, so he offered the opossum to a neighbor who drove by on his way to Patchogue. This man didn't think that half a dollar would pay him for the trouble involved, so he declined the gift with thanks.

That afternoon it occurred to the wife of the man who had killed the animal that she would have to drive to Patchogue to make some purchases. She suggested that her husband throw the body into the bottom of the buggy under the seat, as he might as well make the fifty cents as not. He did this and they drove to town together. After attending to their shopping they stopped in front of the magistrate's office and the husband alighted. He went behind the vehicle to take out the opossum, when, lo and behold! he found eight little ones beside the old animal.

The mother had tucked them all into the pouch under her breast at the sound of danger and they had remained snugly hidden until shaken out by the jolting of the buggy. The amateur nimrod therefore brought down $4.50 with his shot instead of one-ninth of that sum, as he had at first supposed.—New York Tribune.

A Tragic Story.

A Lewiston dog made a grave mistake Saturday. It is certain that "grave" describes it, for he died of mortification later and had to be buried. A little girl with whom he had been playing had a cracker in her hand which the dog greatly desired. She lifted it to her mouth to bite it, when the dog snapped at the morsel and not only got that, but the child's nose with it. The offense was too great to be overlooked and the police were notified and caught the dog. He was hitched to the back of an express wagon and started for the field where he was to be shot, but before arriving he dropped dead. The police say that the very thought of what he had done was more than he could bear, and he accordingly decided to depart this life by the easiest way he knew.—Bangor Commercial.

Pity the Poor Butterfly.

Butterflies, moths and beetles should not be subjected to the cruelty of being impaled by a pin while still alive. Every entomologist should carry with him as a part of his outfit a small vial of ether. A few drops of this poured on the sides of worm, moth or beetle will instantly kill the insect and enable the collector to adjust it with less difficulty than if it were alive, as by its struggles after capture a very fine specimen is often completely ruined.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
